Located in Tranquerah, an area of interesting residential houses, along the road towards Port Dickson, this 150 year old mosque has a square, multi-tiered roof of Sumatran design. The mosque is unique because instead of minarets a pagoda has been built in its place and the main building is in the shape of a pyramid. Within its grounds is the tomb of Sultan Hussain of Johor, who signed the cession of Singapore to Sir Stamford Raffles in 1819.
