Lake Kenyir

Located in the interior part of Terengganu, Kenyir Lake is the largest man-made lake in Southeast Asia, covering an area of 142.47 sq miles. It is also Malaysia's largest rock-filled hydroelectric dam. Within the immense lake, there are at least 14 waterfalls, 340 islands, and several rapids and rivers, making it home to numerous species of freshwater fishes and exotic wildlife.

Getting there: There is no direct bus from Kuala Terengganu to Tasik Kenyir. Visitors can take a bus to Kuala Berang and then hop on a taxi from there.
